

I am a frequent air travel for both business and pleasure and am very much opposed to the idea of people being able to use cell phones while inflight. There are already enough annoyances to deal with while traveling by air, please don't add another.